C. M. Savage Passes Away.

One our oldest, most substantial and best citizens, Mr. Clifford M. Savage, passed to his reward at his home here just at the close of the day last Thursday. Mr. Savage was a native of England and came to this city more than fifty years ago when he was quite a young man. He began life here as a clerk and gradually worked himself through the different places of clerk, bookkeeper, merchant and banker to the position of president of the Merchants & Farmers Bank, which position he held at the time of his death.

As a business man, Mr. Savage was very successful. His great energy with his incite into the real worth of property brought him wealth such as his frugal habits and fidelity to trust deserved. This accumulation of this world's goods he handled as becomes a christian gentleman, never using the power which it gave him to oppress those less fortunate than himself; but on the contrary, he was ever ready to help the deserving poor and to lend financial aid to the struggling brother whose purpose seemed to be honest and honorable, be he ever so humble and poor. The worthy negro did not go without his aid and advice Many are they who will sadly miss him as friend and council lor.

In the community, he was a quiet a id peaceful citizen, a man of few words and many actions. He could always be relied upon to help in whatever cause he thought to be for the u builling of the community or the betterment of the people His big, responsive heart was full of sympathy for the fallen and downtrodden, and his purse strngs were easily loosened to and aid the needy of this or any world and it was only by accident that the outsider could know of his charity.

Using Peat in Germany.

Peat coke in Germany is proving serviceable in many ways. It is not valuable for generating electricity at moorland stations, but is ouch used by blacksmiths and for vametallurgical purposes, especially as a substitute for charcoal in producing high-grade iron. A new turf cooking plant at Elizabeth-Fehn, Oldenburg, converts 30 tons of peat into nine of coke, with gas and tar Specially-designed as by-products. ovens are used and the gas generated is made to heat the retorts and to generate electric current to drive the peat dredging machines. tar yields creosote oil, gas oil, parmn, sulphuric acid and ammonia.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

The labor that went into the building of the Panam canal is symboliced in the Fountain of Energy, by A Stirling Calder. This heroic sculpture stands in the center lagoon of the three lagoons of the South Gardens and faces the main entrance gates. The waters were first released on opening day, February 20, coincidently with the opening of the portals of the exhibit palaces and by the same means; the electric spark transmitted across the continent when President Woodrow Wilson opened the great exposition at San Francisco by wireless.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After mat, nothing seemed to do me any good.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commericed taking it. From the very fust dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work."
